First quarterly report of the Government of Iraq, which contains the action plan and timeline for the transition by 31 December 2010 to successor arrangements for the Development Fund for Iraq and International Advisory and Monitoring Board

1. Plan and timeline for the transition to alternative arrangements for the Development Fund for Iraq

A plan and timeline for transition to alternative arrangements for the Development Fund for Iraq were prepared. They will ensure transition by 31 December 2010 to a successor mechanism that will include external auditing arrangements and enable Iraq to meet its obligations as established in the provisions of Security Council resolution 1483 (2003), paragraph 21.

The main features of the action plan, that will go into effect on 1 January 2011, are designed to maintain the current mechanism to the extent permitted by international resolutions, while noting guarantees for Iraqi assets. Set forth below is a summary of the plan and a timeline for implementation.

2. Status of debts and Iraqi Government programme

The Government of Iraq is continuing to settle all the debts and claims that it inherited from the previous regime, and will continue to do so until such time as they are all dealt with. We request the international community to continue to provide assistance until the Government of Iraq has completed its endeavours in that regard.

Subsequent to the agreement concluded in November 2004 between Iraq and a group of Paris Club creditors regarding the restructuring of debts owed to those countries dating from the Saddam era, Iraq produced an extremely precise programme for the identification of all commercial creditors from that period and put forward proposals for the settlement of debts to those creditors on terms comparable to those agreed with the Paris Club with regard to current net value.

Paris Club

Iraq has signed bilateral debt restructuring agreements with each of the 18 members of the Paris Club whereby it will settle more than $51.1 billion of debts from the Saddam era outstanding to those countries.

Bilateral agreements with countries other than Paris Club members

In 2003, the International Monetary Fund conducted a field survey from which it appeared that some 55 States which are not members of the Paris Club have presented claims against Iraq that date back to the Saddam era. Beginning in 2005, Iraq contacted those countries, which were seeking to settle their claims against Iraq on terms similar to those agreed with the Paris Club. Of the 55 countries which are not members of the Paris Club, Iraq has successfully concluded bilateral agreements for the resolution of debt issues with all but the following 13: Algeria, Brazil, Egypt, Jordan, Kuwait, Morocco, Pakistan, Poland, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, the Sudan, Turkey and the United Arab Emirates. Some $19.5 billion of debt owed to States which are not members of the Paris Club has been rescheduled or settled since 2005.

The Ministry of Finance and the Central Bank of Iraq are taking determined action with a view to settling the debt owed to those countries. The United Arab Emirates has announced the cancellation of 100 per cent of the debt owed to it by Iraq, and an agreement in confirmation of that announcement will be signed by officials of both States. Morocco is considering the feasibility of cancelling 100 per cent of the debts owing to it, and a draft bilateral agreement has been despatched. Most of the outstanding debt of the remaining countries has been verified and draft bilateral agreements have been sent to them. However, dates for the signature of those agreements have not been determined, or replies have not yet been received: Iraq is following up through delegations or contacts with officials in those countries.

Commercial creditors

In December 2004, Iraq invited all commercial enterprises that have claims on Iraqi Government departments and public sector institutions to register their claims with Ernst and Young, the agent for the reconciliation of Iraqi debt. A process of settling claims from the Saddam era was conducted on the basis of financial criteria comparable to the terms agreed with the Paris Club with respect to current net value. Some of the commercial creditors agreed to Iraq's debt reconciliation proposals and to date, more than 13,160 individual claims with a total value in excess of $20.9 billion have been reconciled. The process of reconciling Iraq's commercial debts continues.

A small number of international commercial creditors who had registered Saddam era debts under the programme rejected or ignored Iraq's proposals for the reconciliation of their debts. We believe that those debts amount to some $629 million. It is possible that the other commercial creditors were unsuccessful in registering their claims. However, Iraq has no information on the number of claimants, if any, who fall into this category.

With a view to settling the remaining commercial debts, Iraq has inaugurated new schemes whereby each creditor may submit its claim to Ernst and Young, the agent for the reconciliation of Iraqi debt, for verification. Those claims will then be settled in accordance with the Paris Club agreement, either in the form of a cash payment representing 10.25 per cent of the outstanding claim or in the form of bonds with a face value of 20 per cent of the old debt, on which interest will be payable twice yearly over 17 years.

A number of creditors have come forward and their claims have now been verified and are in the process of being settled. Genuine follow-up is continuous, with a view to persuading all commercial creditors to accept settlement.

The Government of Iraq affirms its commitment to settle all debts and claims inherited from the former regime, and to continue to deal with them until all have been cleared. It requests the international community to continue to provide assistance until the Government of Iraq has completed its endeavours in that respect.

Evaluation of the progress made in strengthening Fund administrative and financial monitoring

With a view to carrying out an objective evaluation of the progress made in respect of financial and administrative monitoring systems at the international level, a set of quantifiable goals were formulated which, when achieved, will lead to fundamental and significant progress in the whole financial and administrative monitoring system. Those goals are summarized below:

1. Completion of the promulgation of laws regulating executive ministries, completion of their organizational structure and identification of their functional bases.
2. Adoption of a job description for each post that will include education, experience, responsibilities and competences.
3. Introduction of the law concerning the establishment of the central public service council in order to ensure that the public service operates in accordance with determined specifications, equitably and transparently.
4. Completion of information systems at the national level, in order to provide comprehensive and timely reports which will ensure that oversight of public expenditure is effective.
5. Consolidation at the national level of harmonized financial directives that regulate the raising and expenditure of public monies.
6. Finalization of a comprehensive comparison system and crude oil production, distribution and export standards.
7. Consolidation of all Iraqi property outside the country and provision of a complete database on that property, to be followed up by a central body.
8. Finalization of State final statements of account, outstanding for a number of years, and verification and submission thereof to the legislative authorities.
9. Follow-up of observations of Development Fund for Iraq auditors and continuation of follow-up mechanism by the Committee of Financial Experts.

Specialist panels have been established within each ministry in order to achieve the above-mentioned goals that lie within their competence. The secretariat of the Council of Ministers will ensure that deadlines for completion are met.
